OVERVIEW

Carl graduated with majors in Political Science and Communications from the University of California, San Diego, in 1988. He graduated from University of the Pacific, McGeorge School of Law in 1992. Carl joined Porter Scott in 1994 and has been a shareholder since 2000.

Carl represents both private and public entity clients throughout the state of California. Litigation is the focus of his practice. Primarily, he defends those that find themselves the subject of a lawsuit. His understanding of what litigation entails provides insight which benefits his clients. That insight is used to help his clients develop strategies and policies to prevent potential claims and best position themselves should they become involved in a lawsuit.
